DIY BEESWAX WRAPS

Beeswax wraps are the perfect substitute for single-use plastic. They adapt and adhere just as well to the food. Plus they are reusable, robust and make great sustainable gifts.

METHOD

- 01. Wash the fabric before starting the project and cut it to the desired size.
- 02. Place a piece of baking paper on the ironing board. The paper should be a good bit bigger than your fabric as it is used to protect the ironing board. Then place the piece of fabric on the paper.
- 03. If you are using a single piece of beeswax, grate it over the fabric. If you have opted for beeswax pellets, you can sprinkle them directly onto the fabric. Once the wax has been spread evenly over the cloth, place a second piece of baking paper on top.
- 04. With the iron set to a medium setting, carefully iron the beeswax into the fabric. When all the wax has been ironed into the fabric, hang it up to cool down - and then you can start using it as a replacement for single-use plastic.
